

Multi-GDS Connectivity Services for the Travel Industry

Deliver Higher Value To Your Customers — Get Access To The Best Travel Deal With A Single Click.

In today's highly complex, cost-competitive travel business, it's critical that travel agencies deliver high value to customers — controlling costs, enhancing choices, simplifying itineraries, and making booking and fulfillment more convenient. But with multiple Global Distribution Systems (GDS) for air, car, hotel, and other inventory providers, finding and delivering the best travel deals can be a complicated, time-consuming process.

Enjoy One-Stop Access To Multiple Travel Product Propositions

Dell's Multi-GDS Connectivity Services address travel agents' needs, providing one-stop access to travel product propositions on multiple systems.

Using XML and Web services-based application program interfaces (APIs), Dell Multi-GDS Connectivity Services enable convenient, Web-based access to a wide array of travel product propositions from multiple GDS inventories — including schedules, availability, fares, booking, and fulfillment for air, car, hotel, and other inventory providers.

You no longer need to switch between multiple, discrete GDS applications to fulfill customer requests, or wonder if you've found the best deal possible. And your customers no longer need to accept complicated itineraries and inconveniences in exchange for lower costs. With Multi-GDS Connectivity Services, you can define the best business deal for yourself while offering customers itineraries and inventory choices that meet their needs.

Get The Solution Tailored To Your Unique Needs, Schedule, And Budget

Dell Services delivers on customers requirements through solutions that incorporate proven, proprietary methodologies and industry best practices. We work with you to establish an implementation and deployment plan that addresses your unique business requirements and culture within the time frame and budget you specify. Using our quality-focused global delivery model, we not only consistently deliver to your requirements, but we also strive to meet or exceed expectations in terms of quality, cost, and timeliness of delivery while helping improve your business efficiency and productivity.

Dell Services Multi-GDS Connectivity Services help travel agencies deliver higher value to customers by providing access to a wide array of travel product propositions — schedules, availability, fares, booking and fulfillment for air, car, hotel, and other inventory providers — on multiple Global Distribution Systems.

Using XML and Web-based APIs, Dell Services Multi-GDS Connectivity Services make finding and delivering the best travel deals to meet each customer's unique needs more convenient, timely, and cost-efficient.
